'79 Is the End of a Decade in Which Students

Have Benefitted From Unitary Education in This Building

Ten years ago two historic Galveston high schools became one in a pioneering step which made fully integrated secondary education a reality for our city. The original Ball High (founded in 1884 for white students) and the original Central High (founded in 1886 for Negro students) became the combination Ball High — a truly unitary education plant.

Containing within its walls proud traditions of two respected schools, Ball High is the only public high school on Galveston Island. It houses a student population of over 3,300.

From the first hesitantly integrated Class of '69 to our cosmopolitan class of '79, students have experienced expanded

Creativity Awakens Through Interaction . . .

John Belton teaches World History creatively.

Students throw a farewell party for Jody Leecraft to show her they'll miss her fine English classes.

Linda Stong gets her textbook: goldmine of creativity!

. . . and Expands Through Individual Research

Pam Capito researches her topic.

Paul Whiteman's into heavy reading.

Nick Homer becomes acutely aware of the necessity of many sources.

Luckily, the writing of senior term papers comes during the foggy winter quarter when there isn't that much temptation to go to the beach. Instead, seniors meet for research and note-taking at Rosenberg Library.

Patrick Allen and Mary Polinard look for information in the card catalogue.

Concentration Expands Creativity . . .

Anthony Rios and Eva Gomez search for the answer.

Becky Acker explains disease prevention.

in Various Types of Learning Situations

Marilyn Bailey studies World History.

Yolanda Wilson writes a rough draft.

Entiende? asks Jody Wsrod, Spanish teacher.

Students concentrate on test.

Long human chains snake along the Strand

At the end of the evening Margaret Womack and Mary Anne Wilder find it easier to sit down while selling papers

"Dickens's Evening on the Strand" is an annual civic event sponsored by the Galveston Historical Foundation, in which the whole city, including Ball High students, participate enthusiastically.

For one cold winter evening in December, Galveston's Strand is restored to its turn-of-the-century glory.

Everybody gets into the act, many in Victorian costume. Stage coaches rumble down the street, chestnuts are roasted, Charles Dickens's "Christmas Carol" is read, and the Ball High Press prepares a special Dickens newspaper. This year it was the "Dickens Rollicking Review" and showed the merry side of Dickens's character.

Junior Princesses: Glenda Smith and Lisa Schaper with escorts David Smith and Gregg Howard

Freshman Princesses: Teri Schaper and Theresa Treyes with escorts Jeff Gottlob and Speedy Gonzales.

Crossing Avenue O between Ball North and South under the watchful eye of Security Coordinator Ray Dillon is a familiar way of life to all classes at Ball High. Although it presents some hazards because of traffic and weather, students decided not to vote for the construction of a crosswalk in this economy-conscious year.

In journalism, money formerly being spent on professional processing of student photography is being saved by having a new publications darkroom. Long overtime hours by photographers Albert Sanchez and Martin Wiedenmeier have saved money and proved valuable teaching experience. That's why our division pages will show student pictures floating in their processing trays.

Cheerleaders devote much of their time and creativity painting "run through" signs for football games. Even though football players rip through the signs at half time, cheerleaders don't mind because it is all a part of school spirit!

Junior cheerleader Colie Fish adds final touch for Viking "run through."

From Whirlette to Tornette . . .

Whirlette is the first big Freshman step to becoming a Tornette. Here the Whirlettes step out at the '79 Homecoming Parade.

"Is this how you treat new teachers at this school?" asks first year science teacher Kevon Wells, after being hit in the face by a pie. But it's all a part of the fun at the "Anything Goes" shindig sponsored by the American Field Service gang. Foreign exchange students learned another strange American custom, some hostilities may have been released, and everybody had fun, even those who cleaned up the mess afterwards

Journalism Photographer Snaps School Board at Work

Citizens Plus Board Face Problems

Dealing creatively with educational problems at the local level is the time-consuming task of the School Board. Press and Quill staff members who visited board meetings along with faculty and concerned citizens learned that there were many points of view to be considered in deciding school policies. Discussions can be lively and entertaining.

Courage and perseverance are characteristics needed by athletes Jimmy Swenson, diver and swimmer, exemplifies both. Although Jimmy broke his neck in a diving accident during the past year, he's back at his favorite sport. So, his picture illustrates the many athletes among us who overcome setbacks and come back for the challenge of sports.

Track Tops '79 Quillsports Honors Winners

Vincent Courville shown here receiving outstanding individual award for

The boys captured their eighth district title in nine years by beating the Angleton Wildcats in Angleton, setting two records in the meet. Paul Morgan's 48.78 eclipsed a record set in 1969 of 49.80 while the mile relay time of 3:17.35 eclipsed an Angleton record set last year of 3:18.16.

So although our team didn't quite win the state title this year they did break some speedy records on the way.

On their way to their fifth consecutive District 24 AAAA girls' track title, our team broke seven district records and racked up 202 points. Record breakers were Ida Paul, triple jump, 37'6½"; Leisa Biggers, 400 meter, 24.3; Janice Simmons, 800 meters, 2:22.0; Jackie Batiste, 80 yard dash, 11.5; and the 1600 meter relay team of Michelle Johnson, Leisa Biggers, Dawna Valentine and Carolyn Brewster, 3:59.0.

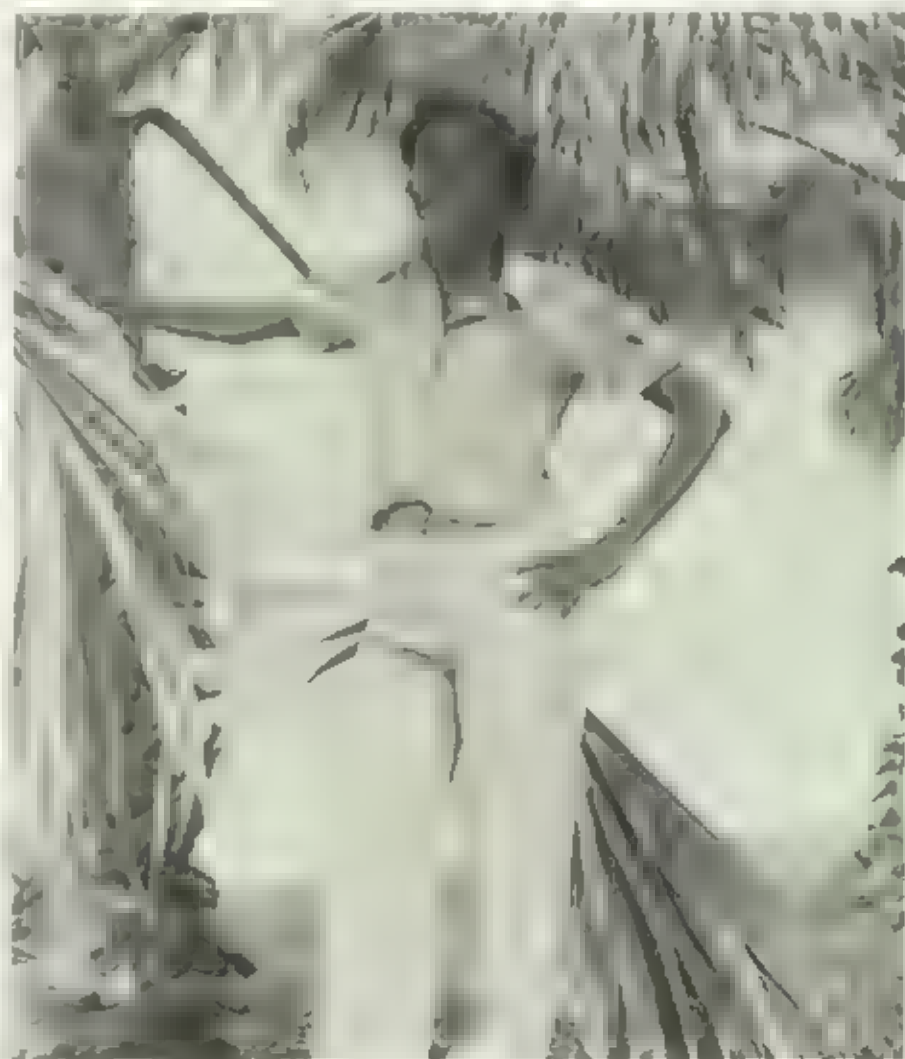

Our 800 meter relay team set a national record at the state meet at Austin.

School spirit, which the 45-plus organizations at Ball High help to expand, is the trademark of the Pep Squad. Brenda Banks, pep squad member, pauses between cheers, using her pom-poms to give the photographer a flirty look

ORGANIZATIONS

Our Student Council Always Plans BIG

By phoning 1050 incoming Freshmen in preparation for pre registration, the Student Council started off the year in a BIG way. Freshman Orientation and Leaderships for the representatives were next on the agenda. Homecoming is always a trying experience, but especially so this past year with the trial and execution of the Angleton Woodcat T W I R P week was another big hit this year with all proceeds going to the Salvation Army. Spring brought St. Patrick's Day, and with it, Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Week. Another big activity was the Council's Campaign for President of the Texas Association of Student Councils. These hard working officers and sponsors put in lots of extra hours to make the 1978-79 Student Council one of the best ever. Standing: Ms. Wisrodt, Walter Bevers, 2nd Vice President, Speedy Gonzales, President, Ms. Kirschner. Seated: Pam Lewis, 1st Vice President, Lorré Auzston, Recording Secretary, Stephanie Everling, Treasurer, and Carla Davis, Corresponding Secretary.

Council Members and Reps Keep the School Stirred Up!

NEWS FLASH: At the state meeting of the Texas Association of Student Councils in May Ball High's Student Council was elected PRESIDENT SCHOOL OF THE TEXAS ASSOCIATION OF STUDENT COUNCILS BY A LANDSLIDE VOTE. The Quill congratulates officers and also sponsor Jody Wisrodt and Student Activities Director Pat Kirschner, who backed them all the way, along with our School Board and our principal, Mr. Watson.

Ball High Press

Photographers Albert Sanchez, Martin Wiedenmeier, Paula Dombrow, Robert Flores and Martyn Butler did work for both the newspaper and yearbook. Sanchez and Wiedenmeier completed the building of the darkroom and were totally responsible for photo production. This meant many overtime hours for them, even before school started.

Rotating as Editors and Co-Editors during the year were seniors Elizabeth Reddick, Lisa Garza, Mary Anne Winder and Joe Cortez. Ame Battle was News Editor and Debbie Elliott took charge of sports writing and advertising. Notable contributions to the Press were also made by Kim Conner, Amber Stubbs, Heidi Mouton, Lena Knox, Christine Burns, Celestine Jackson, Lori Curtino, Donna Lacy and Robin Crunk.

Editor Lisa Garza, a second year journalism student, loves to write features! She won prizes for them at Sam Houston's summer journalism workshop and at District. Lisa dreams them up by writing, then types the finished product.

David McKenna, sports writer for the Galveston News, explains connections between a firm foundation in English, a special field of interest and knowledge of journalistic techniques.

Elizabeth Reddick, foreground, and Kim Conner, sportswriter, pepper the visiting speaker with questions.

Writing and rewriting are the basics stressed in Journalism I and Press classes.

Since the paper is published every month, one week is devoted to basic writing techniques, combining English grammar and journalism principles.

Three deadlines a month are faced by journalism students. They must learn to look words up in the dictionary and Style Book, and to understand space limitations, so they train themselves to write objectively and concisely.

Work this year was expedited by the acquisition of scanner typewriters of the same type used by newspapers.

However, creative, accurate writing and correct English are the basic tools of a journalist.

"We could make believe . . ." sings Eddie Andrich to Lica Levy, in SHOWBOAT, our first full-scale musical in three years, which was a smash hit. Drama played a big part in student activities, with a variety of productions. And along with drama, many other exciting student happenings — some planned and some just spontaneous — made '78-'79 memorable.

DINNER THEATRE

First musical event of the fall season was the "Dinner Theater", a joint effort of the Ball High Drama Department and Student Council

Talented singers and dancers employed all their creativity, put together a full length program of "Broadways Greatest Hits", and presented it to the public. While watching the performance, the audience enjoyed a delicious meal prepared by the cafeteria staff and served by student waitresses and waiters appointed by the Student Council

SHOW

After months and months of hard work, it was finally done. On January 25, 26, and 27, the Ball High School Premier of the musical "Show Boat" was opened to the public. While Thomas Jefferson, Joe Guerrero, and Ken Arnold produced the music, the happy and melancholic story of the "Cotton Blossom" crew was unveiled to the eager audience.

Lisa Levy and Eddie Andrich played the main characters in an enhancing tale of young love and the difficulties involved in married life in turn-of-the-century America. The early hardships of the Black population were brought to the eyes of the spectators in an excellent combination of acting, dancing and singing.

Many a night the cast of "Show Boat" rehearsed, non-stop, until 11:00 or 11:30 (skipping their din-din). A rescue party of about 5 or 6 were sent to Mac Donalds to fetch crates of food to satisfy the growling tummies contained in the auditorium.

The large amount of time sacrificed to rehearsal proved to pay off rather handsomely when the applauding crowd gave the cast a standing ovation and went over board!

'Close-Up' Brings Students to the Scene

Some of the Close Up members visit Congressman Jack Brooks of Texas and pose for a picture

Once every year, a group of about 20 Ball High students travels to Washington, D.C. to get a close up view of the U.S. Government in action. They attend meetings, seminars, and listen to speeches and discussions. Usually a visit to Congress in session is included. January 7, 1979, was too early, though; Congress had not yet convened.

Participants for the '79 program were Ron Achord, Marilyn Bailey, Ame Battle, Scott Clements, Eric Conner, George Davis, Tue Dinh, Kerry Edwards, Joe Gurero, Edward Kasaleh, Kurt Knebel, Mike Lasater, Julie Maffei, Carol Micks, Mary Polinard, Karl Reid, Lisa Silva, Nhan Truong, Martin Wiedenmeier, and Mr. and Mrs. Crisp were the loyal chaperones.

"Thrilling" was the word used by the audience to describe the 1979 Spring Concert. The Ball High Cadet, Concert, and Symphonic Bands each performed along with the Central Middle School guest Band

The concert featured many soloists and sound effects which were generously applauded

To make this concert thrilling took many hours of tedious work on the part of the band members and band directors

Students dragged themselves to band rehearsals and sectionals on early Saturday mornings, exam days, teacher's work days, and after school on weekdays and nights

One major reason for the success of the Ball High Band is the close teamwork of the various band directors

Together these directors have worked for the benefit of all the bands in Galveston. These men are: John Shipp, director of the Symphonic band and French Horn instructor; Roland Butler, director of the Concert band and flute instructor; Jim Gladson, director of the Cadet band and field marching coordinator; Carlos Pena, director of the Austin Band and trombone instructor; Don Wilkins, director of the Central band and clarinet instructor; Dick Frerking, director of Weis Band and trumpet instructor; and Gary Lively, assistant director of Central band and saxophone instructor

Band teaches students how to work toward a goal. To reach this goal there is never-ending competition which leads to never-ending work, but whether it is the entire band or the individual band member who reaches this goal the work is paid for dearly by the reward of a life long musical treasure

Besides Providing Entertainment . . .

Professionals demonstrate Renaissance dancing

Can you believe that, in the middle of the day, normal English students could be called from their classes and immediately learn Renaissance dances well enough to perform with professionals? (Note that we didn't say to PERFORM PROFESSIONALLY, but they did dance surprisingly well )

English students had studied background material in classes before the Cultural Arts people presented their workshops. But when students heard the performers, frequently with British accents, show and tell how to get into the act, they became more involved

Sets for Cultural Arts presentations were imaginative and dramatically impressive, attracting student interest enough to lure them back to the night performances

Eddie Andrich and Paula Dombrow get into the spirit

Set for "Comedy of Errors" was exciting

Cultural Arts' Presentations Expanding Student Creativity

New to Ball High in 78/79 was the Arts in the Schools Program sponsored by the Galveston Arts Council and the Galveston Independent School District. The program has been going on eight years in elementary schools. It is the first program of its kind in the nation.

On the high school level, the program was adult and sophisticated, showing the students the reasons behind customs of the various periods.

Professionals explained, then shared, period costumes.

Variety in the Cultural Arts programs presented at night to the public in Ball High's auditorium is shown in the following program: "A Comedy Of Errors" (done by the Oxford-Cambridge Shakespeare Company); Texas Opera Theatre's presentation of "Così Fan Tutte"; "Romeo and Juliet", "Antigone", brought by the Acting Company of New York, plus ballets and a symphony orchestra. Of all the performances, students were most impressed by the National Theatre of the Deaf.

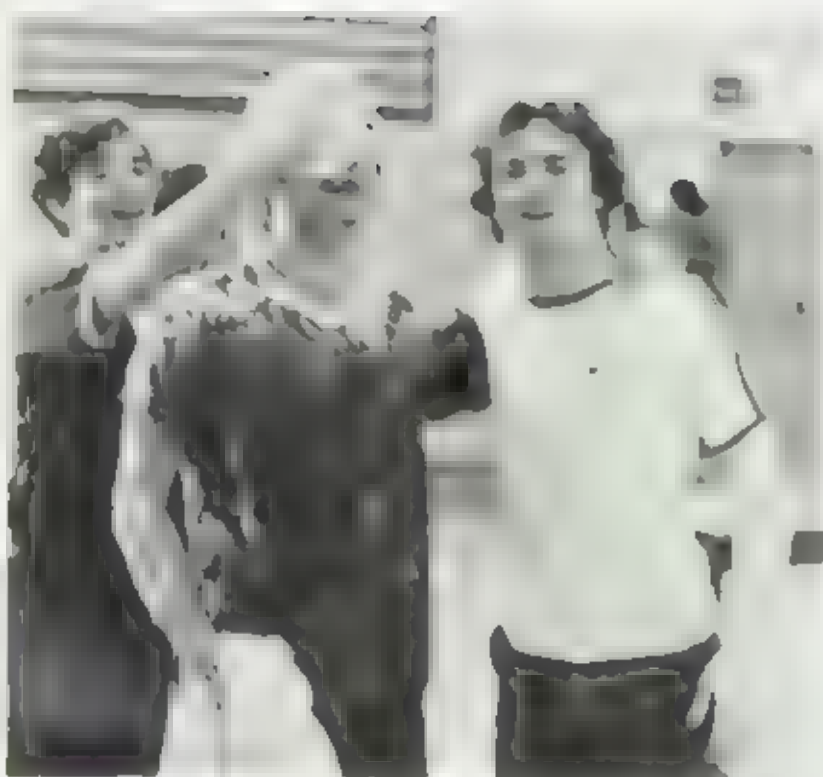

Many students turned out at night to enjoy a hilarious "Comedy of Errors."

Casey Cutler gets creamed by George Davis and Scott Clements

A new technique in scrubbing floors is demonstrated by Lalise Whorton as Margaret Schlankey gives her support

Don't touch me. The cotton ball will roll off of my nose! exclaims Mrs. Kathy Davis

A.F.S. made fundraising fun for everybody in the February Campaign. Students bought their way out of class to see teacher teams compete against students in crazy games, such as egg-balancing, eight-legged racing, towel-races, and others. The last event was searching for a cherry in a whipped cream pie. It ended up in a big, greasy battle. Students loved that part; the cleaning team, however, was less enthusiastic . . .

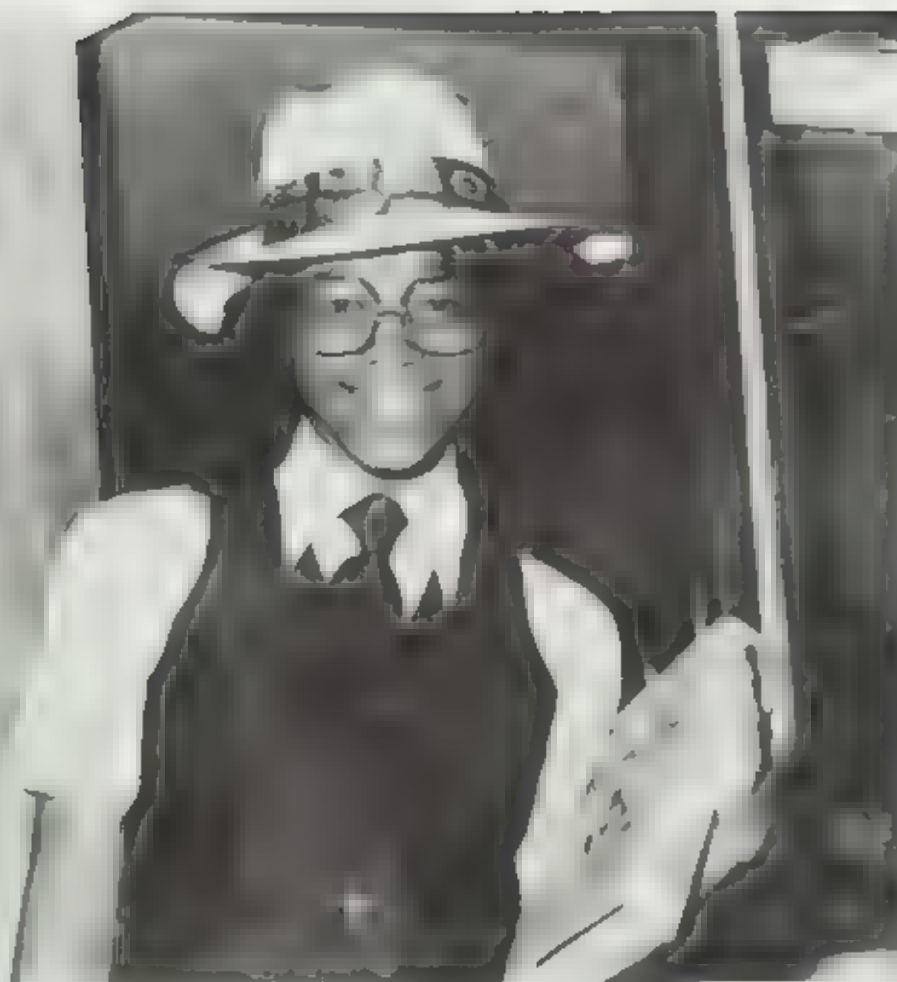

Is this what they call team teaching?

T.W.I.R.P. Week!

Good-hearted gangsters are really Ball High students in disguise, doing their bit for TWIRP week.

This exuberant time, just before the winter holidays, has many rules, but students like these kinds of regulations. For example, girls are supposed to ask guys out and pay for all expenses. (The Woman Is Requested to Pay.)

On a certain day everybody dresses a special voted upon way. This time, we were gangsters.

But one way or another, students managed to collect canned goods and money, which the Student Council President presented to the Salvation Army.

Chrysalis Makes a Comeback!

The Chrysalis

According to the dictionary, Chrysalis is "the period of time in the form of the insect between the larval and adult stages, in which it is cocooned" or "anything in a formative or undeveloped stage."

According to the High School, "The Chrysalis was an excellent, sometime literary magazine."

Through the efforts of Mary Anne Wilkey, editor-in-chief, and Debbie Elliott, poet, plus contributions from English teachers, the Chrysalis made a comeback as a literary supplement to the High School in the May issue.

The students of Ball High wined teachers making fools of themselves. The show consisted of skits done to "Lucy", and the Dating Game. Most amusing skit was one done to "The Twelve Days of Christmas" but was done to a quite different version of "The Twelve Grades of Education" with verses like "On the first day of first grade, my mother said to me, 'Don't wet your pants.'" As shown in that skit, our teachers have a lot of talent.

"Wow, I don't know what got into me — I feel terrific tonight!" shouts Janet Dean.

"Don't you dare slap my face!" says Lieutenant Gail Ryan, r.l., to laughing Laurie Odom.

"We're just about through — think relieved!" Becky Darr, Cricket Lanier, Sandra Harrison, and Cecilia Palomo.

"Variety" was the name of the game when it came to the 1979 Tornette Variety Show. Dances ranged from 'Coneheads' and 'King Tut' to an energetic Jazz Solo (performed by Lieutenant Colonel Carolyn Giusti) and a graceful acrobatic solo (performed by Colonel Natalie Jones).

To add a few laughs, "intoxicated" Pat Medina (Lieutenant Colonel) stumbled onto an open stage and sang or rather mumbled along to the song "Feelings." It did more than add a few laughs — it sent the crowd roaring on the floor.

The final mood was set during the great finale when 120 Tornettes flooded through the auditorium and sang in unison with the crowd "Ball High School Forever". It was the end of the show, but it will be forever remembered!

Banquet Builds "Tornette Tension"

TENSION! Tension so thick that even someone with no connection with the Tornettes couldn't help but feel the excitement. If you have never attended a Tornette Banquet it is really a thing to behold. The Banquet began when Mr. Jim Lanier gave the invocation, and from there it was "MUNCH OUT" time. The Tornettes feasted on roast beef, green beans, au gratin potatoes, hot buttered rolls, and miniature mints for dessert. Mrs. Barbra Crow (Tornette Director) gave the opening speech and then each officer gave their farewell talk. It is impossible for us to conceive all of the love and importance that the girls place on their office, and all of the admiration they have for Mrs. Crow. After each officer said their goodbyes, she presented a small gift to Mrs. Crow to remind her of a crazy mishap that occurred during her term of office. Such gifts consisted of used tubes of Ben-Gay, used bottles of Bactine, tooth picks, etc. . . . Then each officer presented a member of the Tornettes a funny award such as, Trudy Tardy, Farah Foxy, and Banana Split (Pat Medina). Then it was time for the Biggie! Who would be the lucky girl who would replace the officer for the following year. With hands drenched with perspiration and eyes tightly shut the 27 girls in the running were so awaiting that you could almost hear their silent prayers. A great dinner, Mrs. Crow's speech, Officers' farewells, tears shed, gifts exchanged, New officers named and the trepidation only lightly lifted. . . . THIS is a Tornette Banquet!

A Rewarding Experience

When the band arrived at Lake Charles, it was the first time that the band had ever been to a festival. The band members and their parents had to get the chapter ready. They had a lot of time and hours of preparation for the Contra Band Days competition. They arrived at the festival and left Lake Charles proudly, taking with them trophies for Outstanding Band of Festival, superior ratings in parade marching — a tribute to Mr. Gladson's leadership, Outstanding Concert Band and a superior rating in concert playing. Along with practice, there was time to relax and spend time with friends. Good feelings and memories of good times spent with the band remain in the thoughts of each member.

"Looks Like We Made It" . . .

It could have been just another school dance. Faces were just as happy as all the time. But there was something about the dresses and suits: or did you see a Homecoming dance with the guys wearing tuxedos and the girls wearing long evening gowns?

'Looks like we made it' was the theme. Well, for most of the students attending, this was true, for the Prom was held a week before graduation and on the night of the last school day for Seniors. To be sure, you could see many a couple consisting of Juniors, but Seniors were dominant

Junior/Senior Prom '79

Well, you are right, it was not a regular dance, it was the big Junior/Senior Prom. The upper floor of the Moody Civic Center had been rented and after a long and tedious job of decorating it (under the supervision and direction of the senior class sponsors) the right background for this main event of the year had been set

Writing about the Prom, one has to mention the giant Senior ring which had been constructed with much effort and time and which had been posted in front of the aisle leading to the dance floor. It added a certain touch to the scenery. It was a favorite spot to pose for pictures, and going through the "14 karat" gold replica of their class ring gave seniors that VIP feeling

Quill and Scroll Honored at "Wentletrap"

Living it up at a swanky luncheon, hosted at Galveston's newest luxury restaurant by Mr. George Mitchell, are newly inducted members and honorees of Quill and Scroll International Journalism Honor Society. Seated, From Left, Elizabeth Reddick, Diana Edwards, Lisa Garza and Paula Dombrow. Standing, From Left, are Joe Cortez, Mary Anne Wilder, Franz Cramer, Carol Cox of Mitchell Energy, Ame Battle, Eddie Casas, Christine Burns, Debbie Elliott, Galveston News Publisher Les Daughtry, Adviser Margaret Womack, Albert Sanchez, Robert Flores, Superintendent of Schools Frank Voilert, and Alan Paine of Mitchell Energy. Students were fascinated by the journalism speeches of the Mitchell Energy representatives and amazed by some of the journalistic tips given them by Mr. Daughtry. After the fabulous and educational luncheon, Quill and Scroll members agreed that all their long hours working on newspaper and yearbook were "worth the trouble, after all." The "Wentletrap" restaurant is elegant beyond description, combining turn of the century grandeur with modern amenities like air conditioning.

Host George Mitchell, Class of '35

A living example of E-X-P-A-N-D-I-N-G-C-R-E-A-T-I-V-I-T-Y, which is the '79 Quill theme, is Mr. George Mitchell, who graduated from Ball High in 1935. Also an A&M grad, Mitchell is now president of Mitchell Energy & Development. He has been active in the drilling of 3,500 wells and in the discovery of 125 oil fields and 150 gas fields. Besides all this, Mitchell has beautified his hometown with glamorous real estate developments, like Pirate's Beach, and now has just completed the restoration of a Strand Building which houses "Wentletrap."

And what is the Thespian Society? Well, here is a quote from an official pamphlet: "The International Thespian Society is an educational organization, which aims to establish and advance standards of excellence in . . . theatre arts, and which aims to create an . . . interest in theatre arts in secondary schools

Membership is granted for the performance of meritorious work in theatre arts."

To graduate with Honors is no small task at our school. We are on a grade point system, which is described this way in the official Student Handbook: "Graduating students are ranked according to a four-year grade point average. Such ranking is determined by grade points accumulated in

- a. All English courses
- b. All Mathematics courses
- c. All Science courses
- d. All Social Studies courses
- e. All language courses

That's what the yellow book says, and the students here earned their honors.

Valedictorian and Salutatorian requirements are quite demanding. The following courses must be mastered before a candidate can be considered for either of the two top spots.

Five years of English, four years of mathematics (Algebra I level and above), three years of social studies (American History, World History and Government) and four years of science (beginning with physical science or Biology I).

So you can see that students who work their way to top ranking here burned a lot of midnight oil and developed some serious study and research habits.

Hundreds of teenagers drop out along the way to graduation. Gladys Turner, shown about to receive her diploma from School Board President Mrs. Ray Schaper, was not one of those who gave up. Despite an unusual handicap, Gladys enjoyed her hours of being at high school and looks forward to college studies. Pushed in this picture by her government teacher, Mr. Dan Cleary, Gladys is actually a very self-propelled young woman, even from her wheelchair. She was the only '79 graduate who received a standing ovation as her diploma was presented.

Ceremony Opens With Thankful Prayer

*"Our Father in Heaven,
Giver of all good things,
We thank You tonight
For the education
You have given us,
And for all those
Who helped to make it possible.
"Father, we pray that You
Will bless the graduates of '79
With the spirit to help others,
And to make this a better world.
"We know, Father, that You care
About our needs.
"Please give us the things
That will bring us happiness.
Strengthen us to accomplish
What You want us to do,
And help us, that we may always Obey Your commands."*

Offered by Albert Sanchez,
VP Class of '79

'Our Class of '79 Is the End of a Decade . . . We've Saved the Best Till Last' Says Speedy

With his usual zippy wit and charm, Speedy Gonzales, President of the Student Council — a council which won President Student Council of Texas this year — reminds his classmates that they are topping off the seventies in fine style.

Superintendent of Schools Frank Vollert, philosophically takes a moment to note the beauty of the evening. Mentioning the seagulls flying overhead and the singing of the birds, he congratulates the class "for reaching this point of joy in your young lives."

Principal Jim Watson tells the class that its members have accomplished "more than any class we've ever had", as Assistant Principal Charles Willett, who annually plans the graduation exercises, seems to approve of both the class and the clear skies.

Mr. Watson's challenge to the Class of '79 is, "Now see what you can do with the ESTABLISHMENT, which you have sometimes held in low esteem. Just see what you can do!"

Two Who Made the Top

"It doesn't matter whether you drive a Cadillac or a Volkswagon" says Salutatorian Todd Samuelson, imparting the wisdom of true values in his salutary address. "What matters is living in peace with our environment and with each other, being able to appreciate the beauties of life — a sunset, the flight of a bird, the birth of a child. Using our education correctly means being able to love the people and things that really matter."

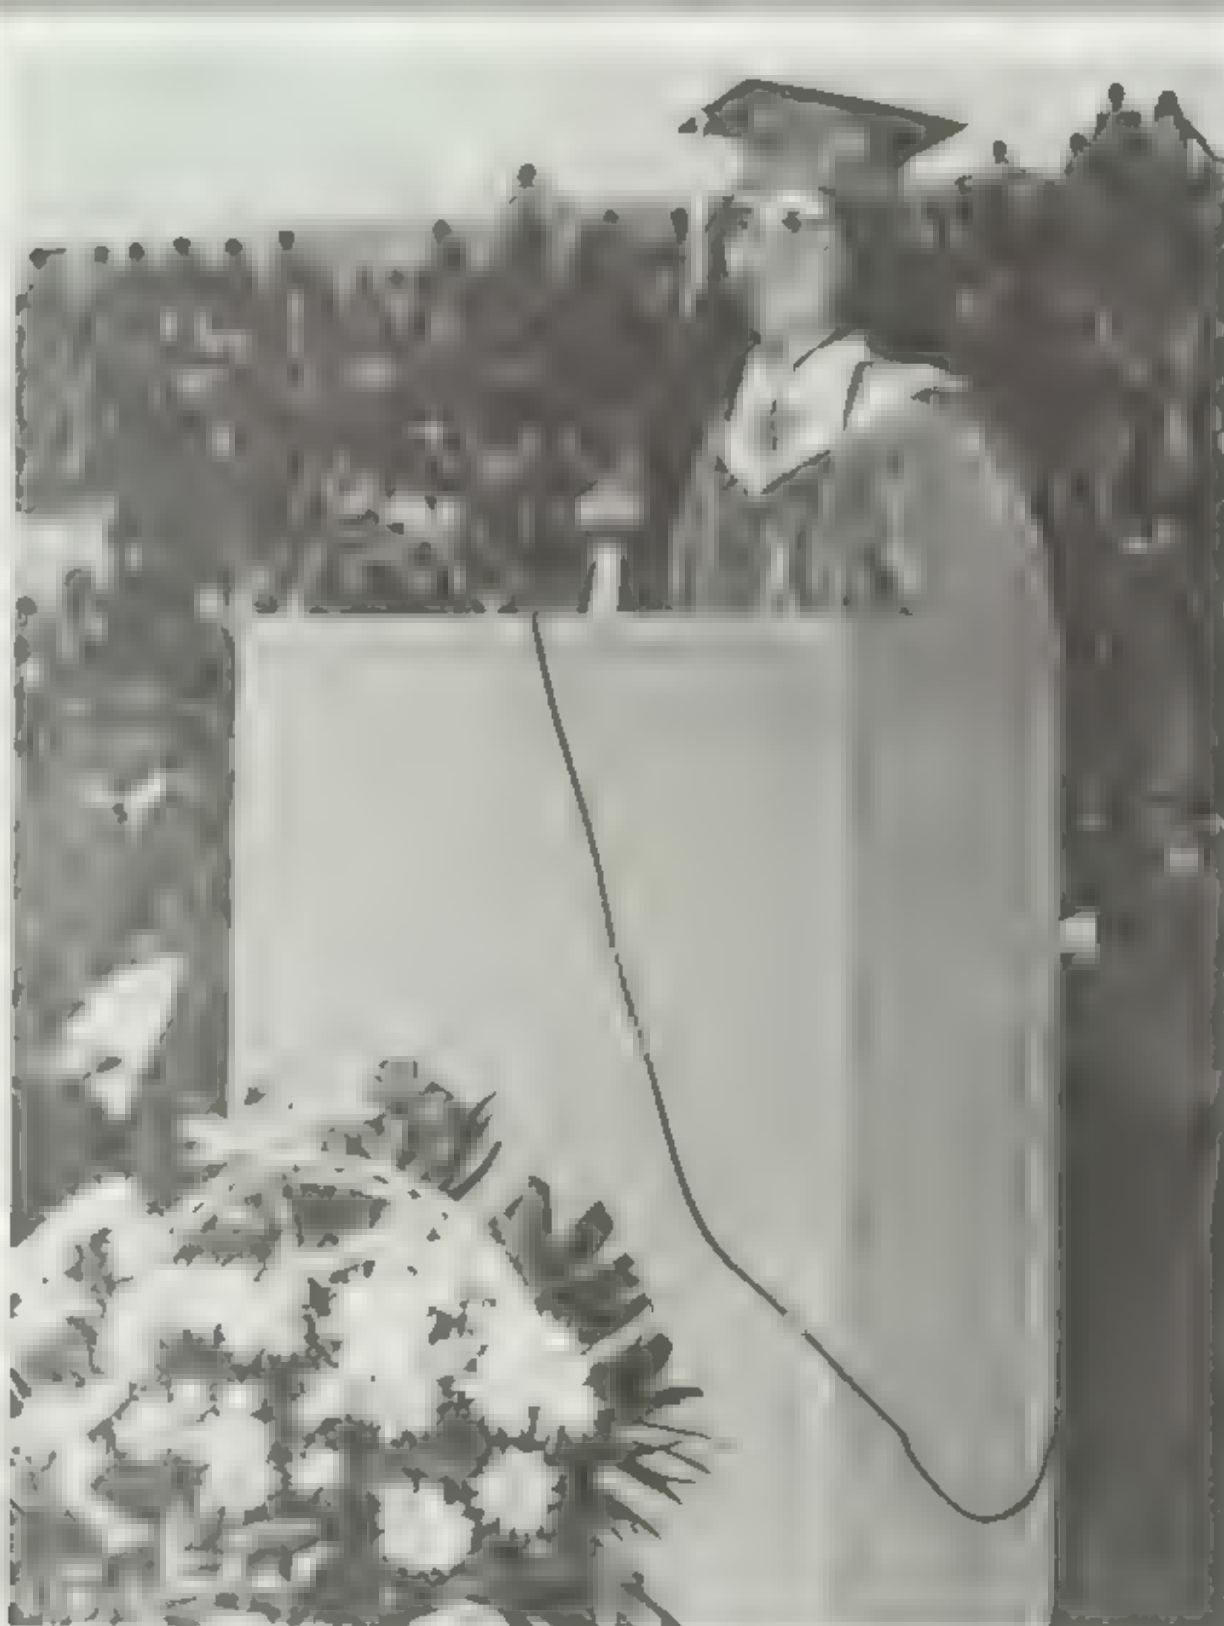

Salutatorian Todd Samuelson

Carolyn Giusti, Valedictorian, said that the diversity of people, both teachers and faculty, at Ball High, "may have been our most important learning experience."

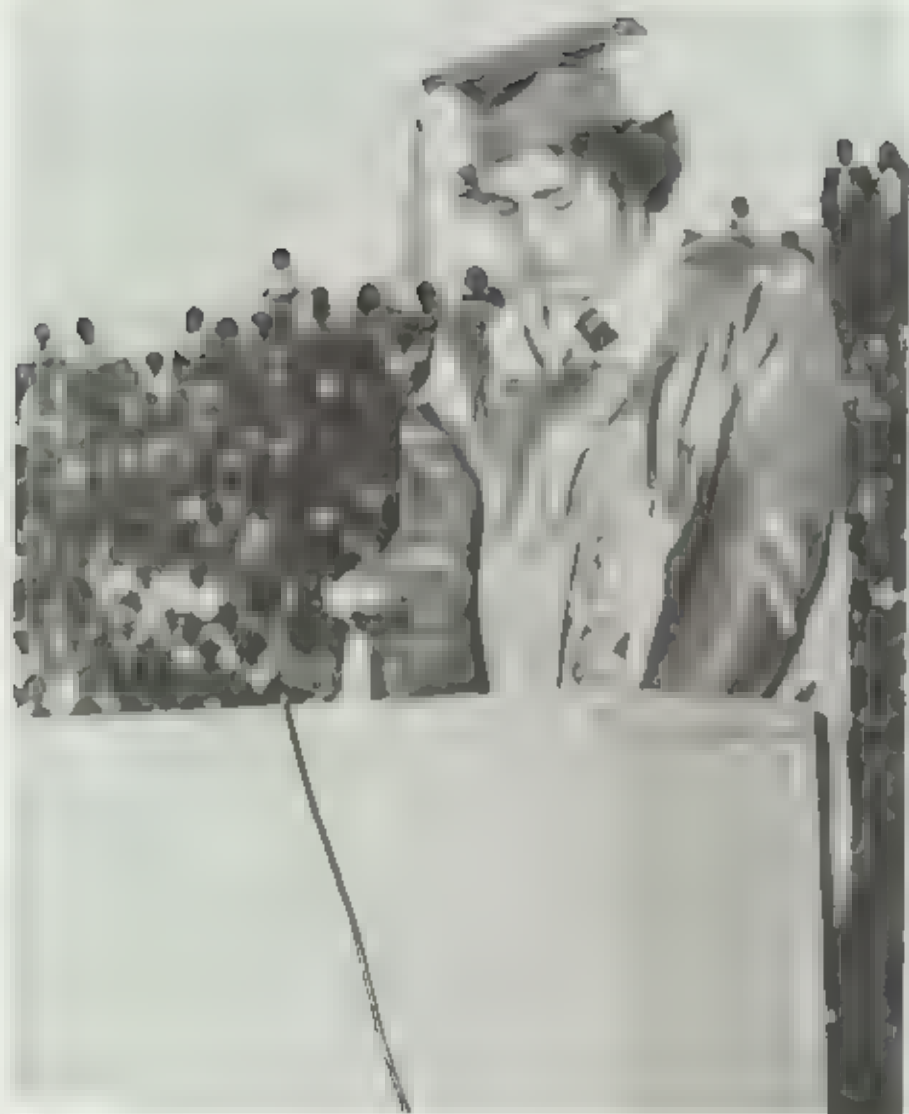

She noted that as the ideas of students were listened to, "We gained maturity, through experience as leaders in such a large community."

She expressed gratitude for all the skills taught at Ball High, but most of all for "the skill of learning to deal with people."

Valedictorian Carolyn Giusti

'You Are Great,' Says Scott Clements

Remarking that for some graduation had been easy, while for others it had been a struggle, Senior Class President Scott Clements emphasized in a forceful way, "You are great, because you have been able to learn to care about working together!"

Noting that the class had started out in disunity, but achieved a unified spirit, Clements said, "You have developed positive ideas about people whose backgrounds are different."

He wished each member of the '79 class fulfillment of dreams of success.

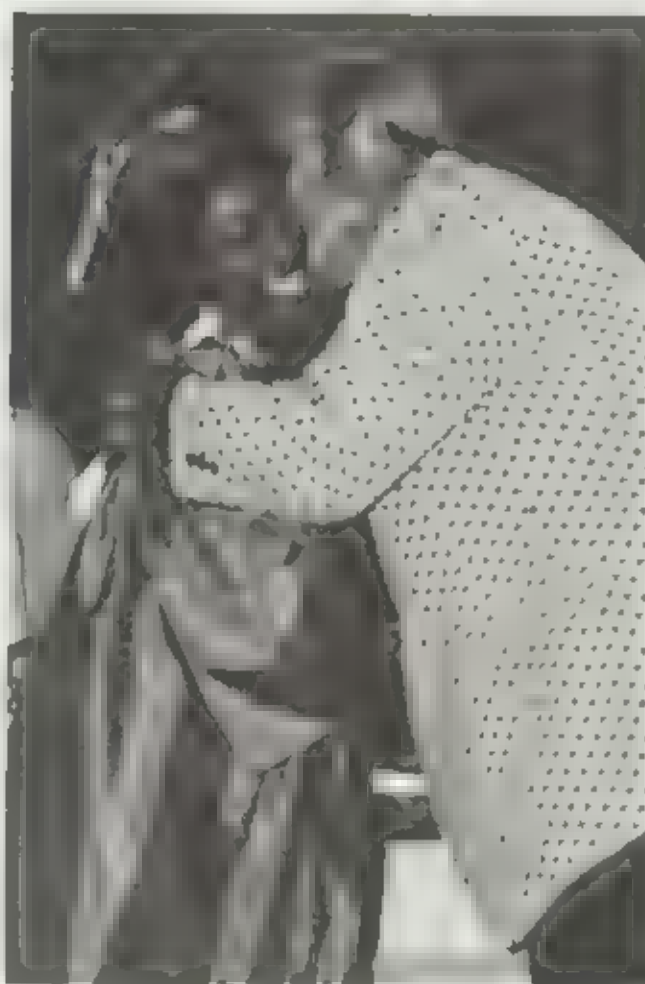

His parting words seemed a promising answer to Principal Jim Watson's challenge.

"You are GREAT," he repeated, begin now to harness the power within you and become ever greater. Let's straighten up the mess the world is in today!"

Senior Class President Scott Clements

Following a long standing Ball High tradition, faculty member Kay Mazaher presents her son Gilbert with his diploma

"See how these Christians love one another," as New Life leader Doris Gilbert is congratulated by Mr. Watson

Graduation Takes Patience!

On and on the diploma lines go, and when Ball High graduations will end nobody knows. This one took two-and-a-half hours for the actual ceremony, plus one hour and twelve years more for the graduating class.

Samples of individual grads getting diplomas are, clockwise, Mary Mullens beaming, hat at a jaunty angle, and diploma firmly in hand, as she gets best wishes from School Board President Mrs. Ray Schaper and Principal Jim Watson.

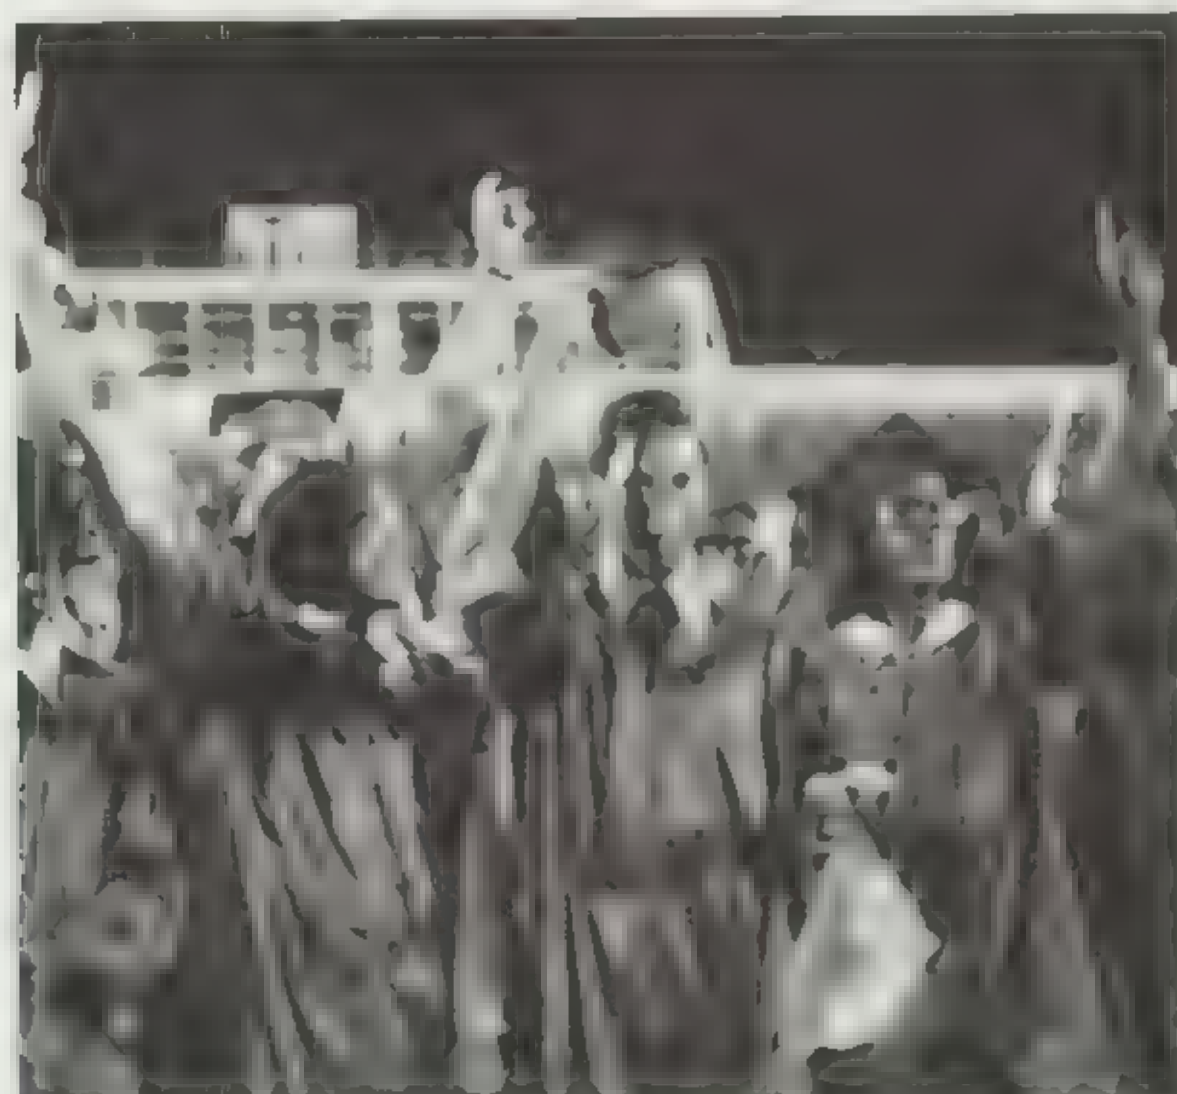

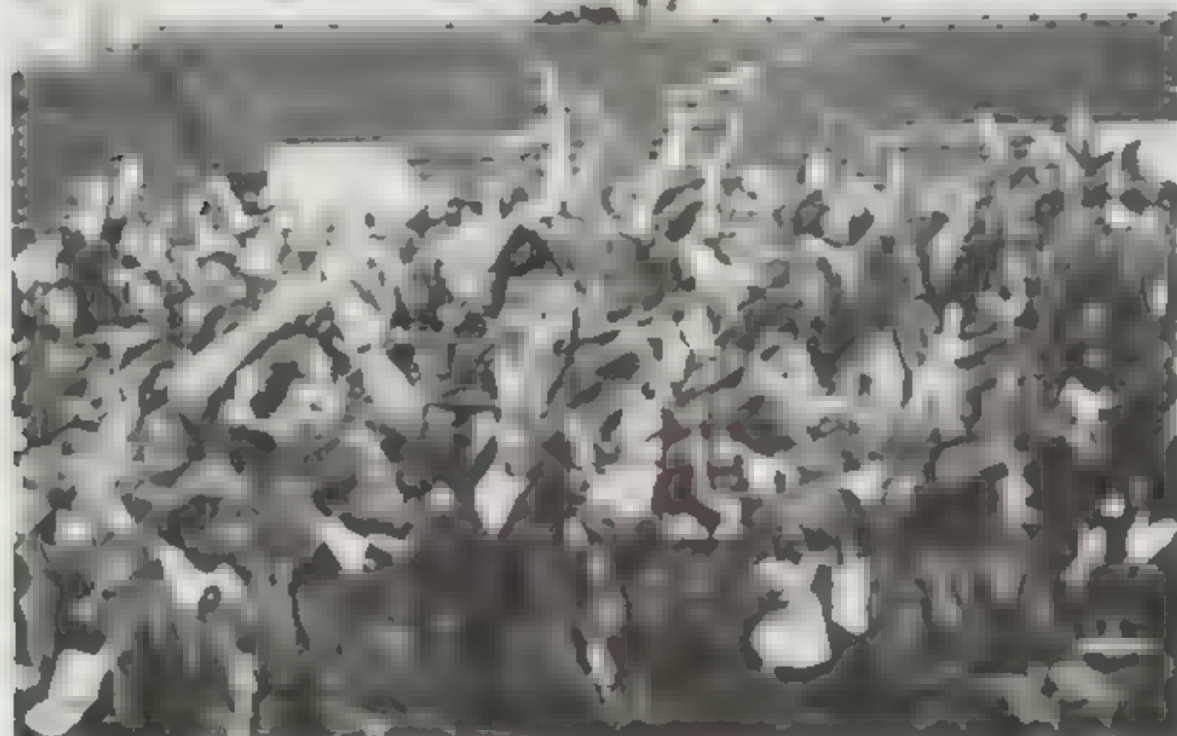

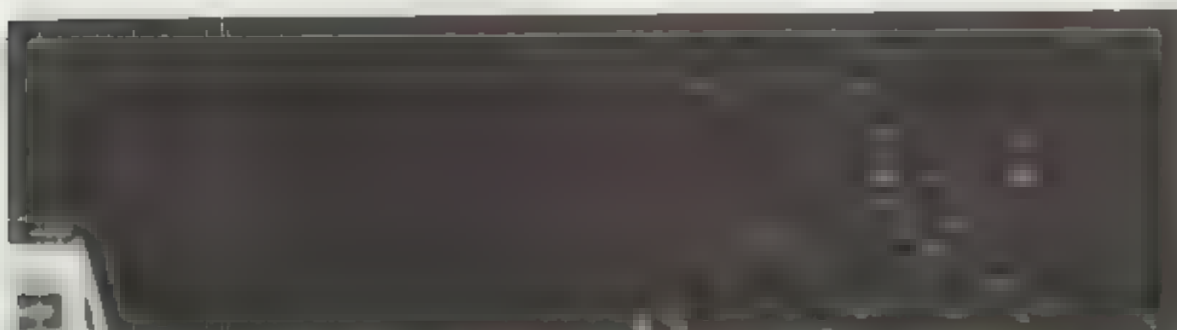

Honor Graduate Patti Doering proudly beams along her diploma-bound way

And in the corner below, there's another "All in the Family" act, as faculty member Marsha Hatch presents daughter Kelly with a diploma and a maternal kiss.

Graduation Didn't Last Forever but Ball High Spirit Will!

Suddenly, everybody has a diploma. Principal Jim Watson gives the benediction prayer, and for one last time, the memorable Class of '79 sings the school song'

Ball High School Forever

Ball High School forever

That is our name

Never, no never,

Will we lose our fame

RAH — RAH — RAH!

So, we'll cheer forever,

On to victory

For we are bound together

'Till eternity!

, then everybody explodes, hats and confetti fill the air and everybody's hugging' and kissin', but it isn't P.D.A. anymore — it's OK!

Aren't You Glad You Stayed 'Til the End?

graduates. 62% of them had a long night May 31 getting their diplomas and listening to how great they are as a class.

There were many seniors though who started out in the Class of '79 but left by the wayside on that last senior day of 117 of them to be exact.

And many more had dropped out since then to start a new year.

Some come back and get it right so how some arrange to graduate some how some pray some day when they realize how important an education is.

Tracy's stay was a little long but too many have failed.

"Look how many times she's in the yearbook," says Martyn Baffler, pointing to the carbon copy of the index in the staff "dummy" of the '79 Quill. Franz Cramer and Paula Dombrow remind Martyn that the girl whose name he's talking about may be found also in some of the yearbook's mob scenes, where only Superman could recognize and identify the oceans of people

Faculty Index

This index includes faculty members who had their portraits made for the Quill. Besides page numbers noted here, where they appear in identified individual or group shots, they may also be discovered in one of the many crowd shots, as may other faculty members, who for one reason or another, didn't have their formal Quill pictures taken.

Index of Seniors '79

This index of the Senior Class contains the names of those seniors who had their portraits made for the Quill. Besides the pages numbered here, where they appear in identified or group shots, they may also be discovered in one of the many crowd shots, as may other seniors, who did not have their formal Quill pictures made. Members of the Junior Class, Sophomore Class and Freshman Class have been indexed separately on the following pages.

Special Credit . . . Editorial and Otherwise

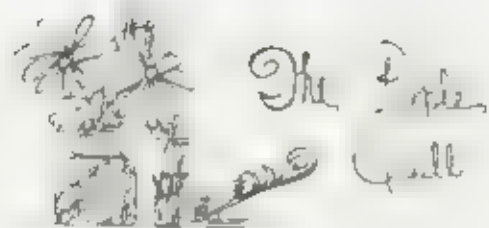

Hiding behind a palm tree, Ray Eton's Security cart symbolizes the protection which made it possible for Quill staffers to "expand creativity" safely at all hours.

Here's to the 'Extra Mile' People

First, extra special credit should be given to the "before-and-after hours" people who came and went at different shifts to get the job done. Beginning before school started were Head Photographer Albert Sanchez and Chief Assistant Martin Wiedenmeier, who finished building the darkroom and put it in working order. Seniors who went the "extra mile" and came to finish up the day after graduation night were Diana Edwards and Franz Cramer, helped by Paula Dombrow and Martin Wiedenmeier, juniors, and Linda Sheinall, a sophomore. Neil Csepke of Studio I came to our aid with a special effects closing picture for pages 270 and 271, and the "doors" poem on page 272 was written by Sister Cathy Chapman. First published with artwork in Dominican Light magazine, it was adapted for the Class of '79 and used with permission.

SPECIAL THANKS TO ADMINISTRATION, FACULTY MEMBERS, STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS, CLASS OFFICERS AND SPONSORS WHO WORKED WITH US TO PROMOTE THE SCHOOL SPIRIT WHICH IS THE MAIN PURPOSE OF RECORDING ANOTHER YEAR OF THE HISTORY OF BALL HIGH. SPACE DOES NOT PERMIT US TO MENTION ALL YOUR NAMES, AND IN OUR END OF THE SCHOOL-YEAR FRAME OF MIND, WE MIGHT FORGET THE MOST IMPORTANT, BUT ALL OF US TOGETHER DID OUR WORK FOR "BALL HIGH SCHOOL FOREVER"

Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, printed 1,000 pre-paid copies of the '79 Quill. Taylor representatives: D'Eon Priest and Robin King; Account Executive: Flo Walton. Photography is student work, except for "mug" shots and most organization shots. Neil Csepke, of Studio I, did the special polarized print on pages 2 and 3. Color panoramics by Goldbeck

Closing along with school in '79 were gas stations and all over the country. Students and faculty drained of energy at the closing of a school year, but the shortage of gas and oil hit home on Memorial Day weekend. Alternative forms of energy, such as "gasahol", were being suggested. Nuclear power's bright future was darkened by the near-meltdown at Three Mile Island, and "No Nuke" T-shirts could be seen around school. Meanwhile, students and faculty repaired bicycles, and roller skating on the Seawall suddenly became popular. Latest fad was three-wheeled roller skate sandals, which could be used as shoes or skates, depending on whether the wheels were up or down.

Class of '79 graduates expect to be among the explorers of creative new ways to expand the world's productivity.

We'll 'Just Keep Rollin' Along.'

As our school days end and the gasoline shortage begins, our lives still roll on. We started out at Ball High together and have faced some ups and downs.

Now we leave, each taking his/her own road ahead, never forgetting what we once shared.

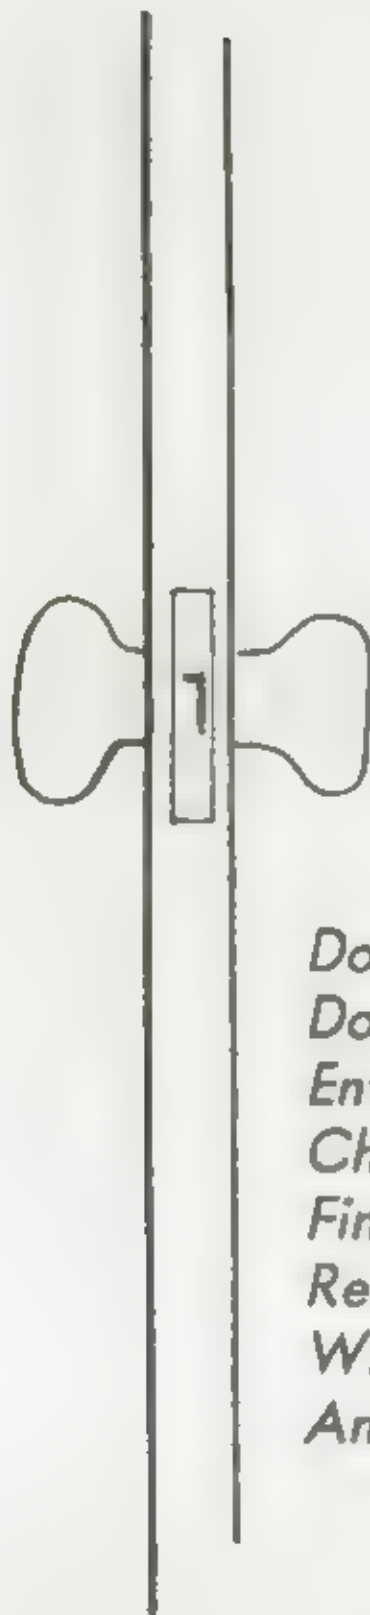

We have learned important things from all our experiences. Sure, we have had some bad times, but we have had our share of good times, and there are more to come as the future opens its doors to each of

*We, the Seniors of '79,
Will expand our creativity
As we open doors
To new experiences . . .*

*Doors we come to
Doors we pass through
Entering a new life
Changing the old
Finding new visions
Relinquishing old ones
With sorrow of separation
And joy of fulfillment*
